CCL Tube Offers a Variety of Color Printing Options

CCL Industries, Inc.'s highly efficient, six-color silkscreen-printing equipment is engineered to allow printing of quality images with accurate color-to-color registration as little as .1mm. One specialized feature allows for decoration beyond 360 degrees, leaving behind an aesthetically pleasing overlap. CCL Tube's in-house art department produces all screens on site using the latest photo-polymer technology. The company's Plastic Barrier Laminate Tubes (PBL) are made from pre-printed plastic laminate material. Since all the decoration is done while the PBL material is still flat, the most sophisticated printing methods can be applied to attain extraordinary results. More info: www.ccltube.com

O.Berk's Low-Profile Jars

The Cosmetic Packaging Group, a division of O.Berk Company, introduced a new line of low-profile jars in polypropylene. All four sizes—1-oz., 2-oz., 3-oz. and 4-oz.—have 70mm. neck finishes. According to the company, the jars are ideal for many cosmetic/personal care and healthcare/cosmeceutical products including creams, lotions, bath gels, scrubs and body smoothers. This line can be further enhanced with optional frosting, custom colors and other decorating options. More info: www.oberk.com

Travel Smart with Continental

The Travel Kit Bag from Continental is just one more way the company is redefining its turnkey packaging. Used in conjunction with any product line, these fanciful bags are not only convenient, but attractive as well. Customers can take the kits on trips and show off elite products. Achieve a natural spa quality feel or a vibrant eye-catching appearance by choosing the type and color of fabric. The Travel Kit Bag also comes in a variety of sizes and zips neatly across for a secure close. The company logo is easily printed on the side of the bag for superb visibility.
